

Please don't expand the LPFM service beyond what it is right now. A radio station I love, K-LOVE, may not be heard because of FM translators being taken over by this service.

1. K-LOVE has served me in Arizona when I lived in Tucson. Now it's serving me in Albuquerque, NM. It's a very positive station with a positive message that has helped many lives as well as mine.

2. If K-LOVE was displaced by a LPFM broadcaster the local community would lose a valuable tool. K-LOVE provides toll free numbers to call where anyone can call in if they feel they need to talk to a counselor or pastor. K-LOVE also provides music that is fine for young listeners to hear. If they are bumped off the air by a LPFM broadcaster parents wouldn't have that option anymore for their children.

3. K-LOVE provides a service that is in the public interest. Not only do they play positive music that is good for anyone to hear, but they have their toll free numbers for anyone to call. They have pastors/ counselors to speak to anyone in need. I've heard accounts on the air of people who have called in when they were at their last straw. The counselors have helped these people to get the help they need, and have encouraged them to hang on and not lose hope. K-LOVE has family friendly programming that has allowed many families to enjoy radio. In today's society it's something we need.
